

CIVIL DEFENSE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL equipment was delivered to Harrisburg Wednesday and stored at the Harrisburg Township high school. The equipment for a 200-bed emergency hospital, allotted to Harrisburg by Civil Defense authorities, was shipped by truck from Summerville, N. J., and will be kept in a room at the HTHS to be used in event of an emergency. On hand to accept the equipment were city officials, Saline county civil defense workers and other interested parties. Mayor Claud Gibbons, seated on an unopened crate, headed the list of Harrisburg dignitaries. Standing sixth from left is Ray Altire, chairman of Saline County Civil Defense operations.

Asks State Pay Boosts

Gov. Stratton Urges $20 Million For Illinois Employees; Sees No Tax Hike

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton proposed today a 20-million-dollar pay increase plan for state employees and at the same time said he was "more confident" than ever there would be no sales tax increase at this legislative session.

The pay increase plan covering about 35,000 employees under the governor won approval of the Budgetary Commission Wednesday and will be included in the governor's budget message next month.

Asked if the pay increases would increase the chances of a sales tax increase this session, Stratton replied with a flat "no."

He said he was "very confident" there would be no sales tax increase, "more confident" than he was a month ago. He said his judgment depended on the Legislature following his budget recommendations.

Stratton said many budget factors were still not known, but he pointed out that his budget this year could include an anticipated 30 million dollars revenue from the state use tax which was not included in the current budget.

Increase Varies Greatly
Stratton said this use tax revenue could be counted on although the tax is under challenge in the Supreme Court. He said if the court threw out the tax, a new use tax, free of legal objections, would probably be introduced and passed this session.

The governor talked with reporters Wednesday after meeting with the Budgetary Commission and Personnel Department Director Donald D. McAmis, who developed the pay increase plan.

The pay increase plan would cost $20,428,000 over the next two years. McAmis said it would be imposed.

He said that under the reclassification of jobs some employees would get as much as a 40 per cent increase, while others would get none. No employee would be cut, he said.

The plan provides for all employees to reach the maximum pay for their classification within four years.

The new classification is to be based on a "point evaluation" system which would take into account experience, education required, degree of responsibility and other factors.

Progressive Boosts Planned
McAmis said a flat across-the-board increase for all employees would only serve to preserve inequities in the present salary setup.

He said the new pay plan would provide for the bulk of the increases to go to the lower salary groups.

The new plan would go into effect July 1, 1959. Meanwhile, present employees would get regular boosts between July 1, 1957 and July 1, 1959 so that all employees would start at the new rates on the effective date of the plan.

Although he could not provide an average raise figure, McAmis gave as an example the Class 3 clerk rating which now pays $230 a month. These employees under the new plan would have a salary range from a minimum of $270 to start to $330 within four years.

The pay plan would apply only to employees under the governor who are under the Personnel Department, but Stratton said all other state officers also had indicated a desire to set their salary scales in line with the plan.

Issue Three Oil Drilling Permits For Saline County

Three oil and gas well drilling permits have been issued for Saline county operations:

The tests:
George Zicos, 908 1-2 Main street, Mt. Vernon, Ill., for the Henry Shaver No. 1, SW NE SE, 22-88-76 (Eldorado township). Permit is to drill out plugged hole;

Carter Oil Co., Tulsa, Okla., for the Bruno DeGiaco No. 2, SW NE NW SW, 20-88-66 (Raleigh);

Grand Opening Friday of New Sewing Center

A new Necchi-Elna sewing center in Harrisburg will have its grand opening in Harrisburg at 106 North Vine street Friday and Saturday of this week.

Howard Woolard, who has had seven years experience in managing sewing centers in Harrisburg and West Frankfort, will be manager of the local store. Also hired is Robert Fletcher of Benton. More employees are slated to be added later.

The center will feature sales of Necchi and other makes of sewing machines and service on all makes. During the grand opening Friday and Saturday Phillip Roberts, factory representative, and Janet Fuller, home economist of the Necchi-Elna company, will be here to demonstrate the 1957 push-button Necchi machine.

There will be a free gift for each lady, and all who visit the store are eligible to register for sewing machine prizes, a new Necchi sewing machine, a radio, and sil-verware.

Rites Friday for Dr. Stephen Hancock

The funeral of Dr. Stephen D. Hancock of Rosiclare, who died at the Lightner hospital on Tuesday, will be held in the chapel of the Gibbons funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday. Rev. Ernest Ammon will officiate. Burial will be in the Sunset Lawn cemetery and the Masonic ritual will be observed.

Youth Admits Hammer Slaying of Young Negro, Apparently on Impulse

CHICAGO (UP)—Police today held a 17-year-old white youth who they said admitted the hammer slaying of a young Negro, apparently on impulse.

"It was just one of those things," police quoted the admitted killer, Joseph Schwartz, as saying.

The victim, Alvin Palmer, 17, a high school honor student, was clubbed to death Monday night as he waited for a bus in a white neighborhood.

Schwartz was quoted as telling the others.

The boys stopped the car, police said, and Schwartz ran up to Palmer, grabbed him and slugged him about the head with a claw hammer.

Schwartz shouted "I got him!" and the five youths returned to their car and fled, police said.

Police also held Schwartz' alleged companions, Ronald Rybka, 17; James Adams, 17; Lawrence Pavlik, 16, and Thomas Trybul-la, 16.

Seek Area Aid

Southern Illinois Leaders Ask Congress to Help Solve Problem

WASHINGTON (UP)—Five southern Illinois leaders asked Congress today to help their area find solutions to its long-standing unemployment problem.

Appearing before a Senate Banking and Currency subcommittee were Goffrey Hughes, Carverville, executive director of Southern Illinois Inc., Jack Wenzel, Gillespie, and Al Imie, Hillsboro, attorneys representing Macoupin and Montgomery counties, Southern Illinois University, and Howard Mendenhall, Benton, manager of the Rend Lake Conservancy District.

All supported an "area redevelopment" bill designed to set up a federal program to aid depressed areas attract new industries. The measure also got support from a United Automobile Workers Union committee on unemployment in the agricultural implement industry. Pat Greathouse, vice president of the UAW; Mayor Ray Mills, Des Moines, Iowa, and City Manager Cornelius Bodine Jr., Rock Island, represented the committee.

One Bright Spot
Hughes told Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who presided, that his group and others in the area were actively seeking new jobs for their many unemployed workers, and a program of federal assistance in the area "wouldn't cost—it would pay."

He said one bright spot was the possibility of government channelization of the Big Muddy River for barge hauling of coal. The direct benefits from such a project would be $10.6 million, Hughes said.

Wenzel and Imie, in a joint statement, said the counties they spoke for "do not want anything which resembles something for

Find 1957 Out-of-State License Plates at Dump

Chief of Police Ross Lane today reported that state police are investigating the finding of two sets of 1957 out-of-state license plates at the city dump south of Harrisburg.

He said the plates, a set of Michigan plates and a set of Missouri plates, apparently had been carried to the dump in rubbish and that they were found by a man gleaming metal out of the rubbish.

He gave them to police and Lane turned them over to District 13 state police headquarters at Du Quoin.

Appointed to IPAC Positions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Elma C. Cravens, 2021 Main street, Eldorado, has been appointed a Visitor, I, certified, and Patricia R. Wiley, 112 West Poplar street, Harrisburg, has been appointed Clerk Stenographer I, certified, for Saline county by the Illinois Public Aid commission.

In Gallatin county Hazel Jo Ann Hise, Shawneetown, has been appointed Clerk Stenographer I, provisional nothing." They aim, the statement said, was "a program on a sound, business-like basis to provide long term loans for industrial and other facilities." They said the area itself has already made its "maximum effort" to provide new jobs.

CIPS to Add Largest Unit At Meredosia

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Central Illinois Public Service Co. announced today that installation will begin early in 1958 of a new 200,000 kilowatt generating unit at the company's Meredosia power station in northwest Morgan county.

The unit, which will be CIPS' largest, is expected to be in operation by the summer of 1960. It will increase the company's generating capacity to 775,000 kilowatts.

M. S. Luthringer, president, said the new unit is being added to "build ahead" for the increasing use of electricity in the company's service area. CIPS serves more than 500 communities in central and southern Illinois.

A new 100,000 kilowatt unit, under construction since mid-1955, is scheduled to be placed in operation at the company's Grand Tower station in southern Illinois by the end of this year.

Operation of the new Meredosia unit will require about 25 more employees than the present 77. It will consume 1,250 tons of coal a day—a half million tons a year.

CIPS will negotiate separate contracts on construction and installation of various components of the new generating unit. It is estimated a total of approximately 250 men will be employed by the various job contractors at the height of construction. The firm of Sargent & Lundy, Chicago, is engineering consultant.

Contracts already have been let to Allis Chalmers for the 200,000 kilowatt turbine generator and to Combustion Engineering for boiler equipment. A brick structure, as high as a 15-story building, will be erected to house these and auxiliary facilities.

CIPS announced a $22,000,000 construction program last week for 1957 as a continuation of a long range expansion program. It was pointed out that customers of the company have doubled their use of electricity since 1950, consuming more than 2,325,000,000 kilowatt hours in 1956. Annual use of more than three billion kilowatt hours is expected by 1960.

Teamster Official Hoffa, Arrested by FBI, Denies Bribery

Gov't Promises To Prevent Corn Price Collapse

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal farm official promised today that the administration — if necessary — will take extraordinary steps to prevent a collapse in corn prices which could result in depressing livestock prices.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Marvin L. McLain made the promise after emergency legislation to solve the corn problem was killed Wednesday on the House floor in a bitter partisan row. Corn is the nation's major feed grain for livestock.

The legislation, defeated by a 217-188 vote, would have raised the planting allotment for 1957 crop corn to last year's level of 51 million acres. As matters stand now, most corn growers will have to plant within their individual ceilings under a total national allotment of 37.3 million acres to qualify for the 1957 support price of $1.36 a bushel. Few growers are expected to do so.

But McLain indicated the Agriculture Department would provide special price support at a lower level than $1.36 a bushel for farmers who overplant their present allotments, if the size of the 1957 crop indicates such action is necessary to keep prices from collapsing. Similar price props were provided for the 1956 crop by President Eisenhower when he vetoed the catch-all Democratic farm bill last year.

Defeat Compromise Plan

The decisive 217-188 vote resulted when a Republican plan dealing only with corn came up for final passage. Republicans voted for it 125-61. Democrats voted against it 156-63. The plan would have allowed commercial growers to receive $1.31 a bushel price support if they planted within their share of a 51-million acre allotment. Those who elected to comply with the lower allotments now prevailing would have received $1.36 a bushel support.

Earlier, Republicans had lined up almost solidly to defeat a compromise plan offered by Democrats. This would have included the Republican corn plan, but would also have provided soil bank payments to producers of wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice and tobacco, who take land out of feed grains.

The House rejected the Democratic proposal twice—159-139 and 168-141.

Breaks Leg

Diana May Keltner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keltner, who is a kindergarten pupil at Logan school, fell off her bicycle Wednesday and broke her leg. She was given emergency attention at Lightner hospital and returned to the Keltner home, 115 East Rose street.

No Acting President During Absence Of Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UP)—Contrary to some beliefs, there will be no acting president while President Eisenhower is away.

The President is the Chief Executive wherever he is. He cannot hand over his responsibility to anyone. The office of president follows him wherever he goes. The cruiser Canberra will be the official "White House" from the moment Mr. Eisenhower steps aboard it tonight until he steps off in Bermuda next Wednesday.

Only in the event of the President's death, removal, resignation or inability to perform his duties would Vice President Richard M. Nixon take over the reins of the presidency.

Business Plans $37.5 Billion For Expansion

WASHINGTON (UP)—American businessmen plan to spend an all-time high of 37 1/2 billion dollars on new plant and equipment this year—2 billion dollars more than last year.

The government made the prediction Wednesday after a joint survey by the Commerce Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission.

It contrasts with earlier reports that some businesses are giving up expansion plans because of "soft" spots in the economy and because the inflationary trend has increased equipment and production costs.

If the promised expansion is carried out it could mean the capital investment peak hit early this year will be carried through for the entire year.

Officials said the plans coincide with optimism in the business community that sales this year also will hit new peaks. Compared with last year, business men expect manufacturing sales to climb 8 per cent along with a 4 per cent increase in trade and a 9 per cent climb in the revenues of utilities.

They said higher sales prices, coupled with an increase in the cost of capital goods, complete the picture of increased sales and investment.

Brother of Mrs. Ed Hutchinson Dies

Raymond Fife of Benton died yesterday evening at the Christopher hospital. He was the brother of Mrs. Ed Hutchinson of Harrisburg and Mrs. G. W. Allen of Eldorado. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Miss Mary Richardson is Re-Elected District Chairman of B. & P. W. Clubs

Miss Mary Richardson was re-elected for a second term as chairman of the Business and Professional Women's club at the spring meeting of district 13 held at the First Christian church Tuesday.

Miss Alta Feller of Fairfield was elected vice chairman.

For the dinner at 7 p. m. the tables were nicely decorated with yellow snapdragons and gladioli and greenery, the B. and P. W. colors. Programs were in the form of shamrocks, and favors were miniature kites.

Mrs. Edna Lewis, president of the Harrisburg club, gave the welcoming speech, and the response was given by Miss Feller.

Freed on Bail on Charge Buying Committee Files

Papers Found in His Possession, FBI Reports

WASHINGTON (UP)—Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa replied to government bribery charges today with the declaration that he is innocent "of any wrongdoing."

"I will fight this case until I am cleared," he said.

The chunky Hoffa, regarded generally as the crown prince of the giant Teamsters Union, made the declaration to reporters a few hours after the government accused him of bribing his way into the secret files of the Senate Rack-ets Committee.

Freed in $25,000 bail in today's small hours, the muscular little unionist said this "is not the first instance when a labor leader has been unjustly accused."

FBI agents arrested Hoffa at a swank hotel shortly before midnight after working with the Senate committee for a month to lay a trap baited with specially prepared committee documents.

Hoffa met with reporters after conferring with his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams. He read a brief statement but refused to answer any questions. He said he does not want "to try my case or present my defense in the newspapers."

A hearing is scheduled in Federal Court here March 28.

The FBI said the committee papers were found in his possession. At the same time the FBI arrested a one-time congressional committee counsel, Hyman I. Fischbach, in Coral Gables, Fla., and Hoffa's secretary, Mrs. Fred Dobrescu, in Detroit. It charged Fischbach with bribery and held Mrs. Dobrescu as a material witness.

Fischbach "Contact" Man

Hoffa was arrested shortly before midnight as he entered an elevator at the DuPont Plaza Hotel where he has a suite. G-men hustled him before U. S. Commissioner James Splain for arraignment on the bribery charge.

The FBI charged him with offering New York attorney John Cye Cheasty $18,000 to secure a job with the racketeers committee to flush documents from its files on its sensational investigation of the Teamsters Union.

The FBI said Cheasty, who cooperated with the committee and FBI from the start, actually received payments of $1,000 and $2,000 from Hoffa.

A committee spokesman said Fischbach—scheduled to be arraigned today in Miami—was the "original contact" man between Cheasty and Hoffa. Fischbach, a Miami attorney, was counsel for a special House subcommittee set up in 1950 to investigate crime in the District of Columbia.

Rackets Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said Hoffa's alleged activities are "clearly an indication of the steps that gangster elements are undertaking and will continue to undertake to hinder, hamper, obstruct and destroy," the racket investigation.

Maximum penalty under the federal bribery statute is three times the amount of the bribe—presumably $9,000 in Hoffa's case if proved—and three years in jail.

The arrests sent a powerful shock throughout organized labor. Hoffa, midwest czar of the 14 million man Teamsters Union, is heir apparent to President Dave Beck.

The First Step Only

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

When a conflict involving threat of arms is settled without gunfire, free men cannot help but sigh in relief, as they now do over Israel's announced withdrawal from the Gaza strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Israeli decision to pull out troops from these Egyptian trouble spots ended one of the most painfully dragged-out interludes in international negotiations since the Korean truce talks.

There can be no doubt that it was chiefly American pressure which accomplished the objective.

True, the United Nations was threatening economic sanctions if Israel did not obey its edict to get out, but what gave that threat force was President Eisenhower's support for the idea of compulsion.

Once more, as often before in this and other crises, the United States has shown the world—including the neutralist doubters—that when the critical moment is at hand it labors unreservedly for peace.

Others may question our methods, our specific approaches, our diplomatic utterances. It would seem, however, that they cannot in fairness question our devotion to peace.

In the case of Israel, nevertheless, that is not enough.

The Israeli yielded reluctantly on this issue because they have been the persistent victims of Egyptian raids on their land and shipping. The Gaza strip and the Gulf of Aqaba islands are the key bases for these raids.

To win final agreement on the withdrawal, the United States has given firm assurances to Israel.
We will seek to protect this tiny country against new border assaults and shipping raids.

The moral-minded nations of the U. N. can do no less than join in these assurances.

These nations have achieved their initial goal—restoration of the situation which prevailed before the Israeli-British-French attacks on Egypt last October.

The time is now at hand for the real heart of the problem to be faced. It's time for tough negotiations aimed at bringing Israel and the Arab lands into at least a sort of rudimentary harmony.

Each should be allowed to live without threat of violence and with a chance to advance the living standards of its people.

Without such following effort quickly begun, the stage arrived at by the Israeli withdrawal makes a thin thread of peace which can snap at an instant.

There are already too many thin threads stretched around the globe.
This is the moment and the place to start weaving stronger cords.

Is Politics Maturing?

We are accustomed to having our leading public figures set down their memoirs, or even allow "authorized" biographies of themselves while they are still alive.
Not too frequently, though, does a former president write with devotion about one of his predecessors—and a member of a rival party at that.

Former President Hoover is doing it. He plans to turn out a book about the late President Woodrow Wilson's bitter disappointments at the Versailles Peace Conference
following World War I.

As he undertakes this, Mr. Hoover describes Wilson as "a great administrator, a great idealist, but ahead of his time."

Of course Wilson's eminence in U. S. history is widely acknowledged, but Mr. Hoover could easily have left the story to the detailed historians. Most members of both parties would be inclined to do so in a similar situation.

This seems to be a step forward in developing breadth of view among American leaders. Now Adlai Stevenson could give the movement momentum by taking a new, balanced look at Theodore Roosevelt.

There's a limit, naturally. No one expects former President Truman to give us a loving "Life of Calvin Coolidge."

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Drinking Problem Raises Its Bipartisan Head On Capitol
Hill; Protests From Clergy Expected As Result Of Recent Parties; Y. a. in Americans Don't Shout Over Nixon's Wooing Of Africa.

WASHINGTON. — Two plush cocktail parties in the Senate office building have raised the question of drinking in government buildings—a question which has been debated pro and con ever since Daniel Webster used to appear inebriated on the Senate floor.

The question happens to be a bipartisan one, since both President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson attended the cocktail parties in question — one for ex-Chairman Len Hall, Republican, last week;
the other for new Sen. Joseph Clark, Democrat of Philadelphia earlier.

There was a time when the Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service, of which the late Bishop James Cannon was the crusading chairman, kept an eagle eye on Capitol Hill drinking.
As a partial result, the Senate does not permit even beer to be served in its dining room. The House does permit beer, but nothing stronger.

In other government buildings there are regulations against the serving of liquor, though around Christmas time officials diligently look the other way.

But on Capitol Hill, which has its own police, the solons have made their own rules. They date back to 1837 when Congress voted to banish the official bar from the halls of Congress, chiefly because Daniel Webster and Henry Clay spent most of their time there.

PLUSH GOP BAR

About the time the official bar was banished from the Capitol the ring of saloons that surrounded the Capitol also was dried up, including Pendleton's famous House of Fortune. In those days there was one saloon to every 90 people in the city. But all bars were abolished from around the Senate and House and remained banished.

The first real dent in this taboo on bars near the Capitol building came immediately after Eisenhower was elected. Some of the most distinguished leaders of the Republican party set up the Capitol Hill Club at that time, just across the street from the House of Representatives where a thirsty solon could slip across and get a quick snifter.

The bar was located in the former home of ex-Congressman Charles Dewey of Chicago, and such GOP leaders as John Foster
Dulles, Clare Boothe Luce, ex-Secretary of War Pat Hurley, and Sen. Frank Carlson from the once very dry state of Kansas, each kicked in $500 to get the club going.

The GOP bar aroused a furor among Washington clergymen partly because it was the first bar near the Capitol since 1937, partly because the GOPers pulled wires to get their place licensed.
A license for a package store had just been vetoed right next door to the GOP club, despite which Republican leaders overruled all precedent and wangled an "on-the-premises" drinking license.
They even got the D. C. law waived regarding the fingerprinting of the license owners. The distinguished Republicans who applied for the license didn't want to be fingerprinted, so the law was ignored.

Now, as a result of the two open super-duper cocktail parties, one

Democratic and one Republican, held in the Senate office building, Washington dries and clergy are up in arms. You're sure to hear a lot more demand that the Capitol go back to the laws of 1837.

FICKLE DICK

Vice President Nixon's ballyhoo over the new state on the African Gold Coast and his tour of Africa are having repercussions
among our so-called good neighbors. Some of them now call themselves "neglected neighbors."

When Latin Americans read about the big hurrah given the new state of Ghana, they can't help wondering what this new found American love for Africa is going to do to the tropical products which Latin America has been shipping to the United States, but which are now being increasingly shelved by the nearslave labor of Africa.

Take cocoa and chocolate. This is the chief, almost the sole export of Ecuador. It's also a big export of Brazil. Shortly before World War I, however, the British started growing cocoa in the African Gold Coast, now Ghana, until today Ghana is the world's chief cocoa producer. This was accomplished not because the cocoa bean of Africa was any better—actually it was imported from Ecuador—but because of cheap African labor plus efficient British government — dominated cartels.

Cheap Negro labor has made Africa an easier target for communism today, which is one reason Nixon is frantically wooing the Africans to stay out of the Soviet bloc.

Meanwhile, Latin America went through its social revolution, enjoys higher wages, and is thumbing its nose at the Soviet bloc.
Sixteen Latin American countries have severed relation with Moscow. They don't even speak. So we don't have to woo them to keep out of the Soviet bloc. Nevertheless, they resent our fickleness.
They recall that Nixon also came to Brazil over a year ago and made a big speech about American solidarity. And they worry that if American imports shift more to cheap-labor Africa, Latin American labor will drift more toward communism. For it's almost axiomatic that heavy cocoa sales in Ghana mean revolution in Ecuador.

Note—Latin America produces almost the same tropical products as Africa—cotton, coffee, coca, bananas — plus tobacco, which competes with Kentucky, North Carolina, and the American tobacco states.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have warned like to expect a Chinese Communist assault on Quemoy or Matsu next month. Secret photos show a steady buildup of the Red military. . . . Secretary of State Dulles is so unpopular in Europe and Asia that the Russians are using him as their main propaganda weapon. . . . University students in East Germany are so restive that the Communists have formed armed "alert squads" to patrol and police the universities.
Japan's new Premier Nobu-suke Kishi has sounded out the American embassy about visiting Washington this summer.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

People seem to glory in proving other people wrong. They are quick to pick up errors in pronunciation, in grammar, and in minutia of fact. Commentators or folk appearing in the public eye are picked up quickly for any error in their speech.

The critics of Jesus tried to trick Him into error in logic, lack of appreciation for legal details, disloyalty to political powers and inconsistency in religious customs. When they were unable to convict Him on a technicality, they trumped up charges on which to sentence Him to death.

We could all do well to read the words of Christ, and learn how to rise above the human desire to find mistakes. Criticism can tear down our morale if we become too much concerned with trivia.

As Jesus pointed out during His last days on earth, we must be concerned about love and faith and salvation instead of the letter of the law.

The sensitive modern "electric eye" photoelectric cell was developed at the University of Illinois in 1913.

Judges appointed under the Judiciary Act of 1801 by President Adams were known as the "midnight judges."

Maxine Belt Hostess To Buena Vista Unit

Buena Vista Home Bureau unit met recently with Maxine Belt.

Roll call was answered with each member telling a piece of household equipment they would like to have. Ruth Pickford presided over the meeting in the absence of the president and vice president.

The minor lesson, "Pruning Small Bushes," was given by Lois Buchanan, and the major lesson, "Preparing Food for the Freezer Other Than Baked or Cooked," was presented by Mildred Smith. Isolene Parkinson joined the unit.

Refreshments of sandwiches, Cokes and candy were served by the hostess to Nelle Denny, Mary Shell, Lois Buchanan, Ruth Pickford, Barbara Nell McConnell, Isolene Parkinson and Lula Hughes.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mary Shell.

McKinley Philathea Class Enjoys Potluck Supper

The Philathea Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met at the church Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. for a potluck supper of sandwiches, pie, coffee and Cokes, and meeting which were most enjoyable.

Mrs. Della McDonald asked the blessing for the meal. Opening song was "Bringing in the Sheaves," followed with prayer by Mrs. Louise LaBaw. Mrs. Charlie Gibbons gave the devotion taking her scripture from Psalms 13. Closing prayer was by Mrs. McDonald.

Present were Mrs. Louise LaBaw, Mrs. Houston Coker, Mrs. Earl Cooley and son, Mrs. Roy Chamberlain, Mrs. Essie Holloway, Miss Wynonna English, Mrs. Reva English, Mrs. Evadene Woodruff, Mrs. Rev Rankins, Mrs. Bruce Baker, Mrs. Calvin Blackman, Mrs. Charlie Gibbons, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Clifford Burklow, Mrs. Della McDonald, Mrs. Rufus Griffith, Mrs. Earl Robb and Mrs. Jesse Gibbons.

Egyptian Shrine No. 56 Elects New Officers

The Egyptian Shrine No. 56, Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem, held its regular stated meeting recently, preceded by a dinner.

New officers were elected as follows: Ruby Hilliard, worthy high priestess; Paul Hilliard, watchman of shepherds; Blanche Ozment, noble prophetess; Don Endicott, associate watchman of shepherds; Jane Endicott, worthy scribe; Ruby Walker, worthy treasurer; June Raley, worthy chaplain; Hazel Jones, worthy shepherdess; worthy guide, Mattie Wallace.

Richard Davenport was elected representative on the Masonic Temple board.

The new officers will rehearse Monday, March 18, for installation which will be Thursday, March 21. The public is invited.

Dr. Don E. Applegate and family have returned to their home in Richmond, Ind., after a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate, 200 West Park.

The fifth birthday of Patsy Ann Cook, daughter of Mrs. Mary Cook, was celebrated with a party recently at the William Baker home in Manteno.

G. A. Meets With Mrs. Willie Cummins

The Girls' Auxiliary of the Ingram Hill Baptist church met recently at the home of Mrs. Willie Cummins under the direction of Mrs. John Stinson, the G. A. counselor. The meeting opened with a prayer and the hymn "We've A Story to Tell." Program booklets were in the form of the Liberty Bell and each girl participated in the program. A special prayer was offered as preparation for home missions. Several members were absent because of measles. Mrs. Cummins served refreshments to Rebecca Chrisman, Sue Taylor, Judy Taylor, Patsy Stinson and the counselor.

Mrs. Hawkins Hostess To Baptist T.E.L. Class

The T.E.L. class of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Lola Hawkins Tuesday for a potluck dinner at the noon hour. Sixteen members and three visitors were present.

Before the delicious meal grace was offered by Mrs. F. T. Zinn. The afternoon business session was presided over by Mrs. Mima Woolard and opening song was "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Prayer was by Mrs. Anna Sisk.

Minutes were read and approved and reports were given by the various officers present. Cards were signed and sent to the sick members.

The president introduced Mrs. Lillian Tuttle who brought a wonderful devotion on "Love, Prayer, Stewardship and Service," which was greatly enjoyed.

All departed at a late hour thanking the hostess for a lovely time.

Evergreen Garden Club Meets With Mrs. O. L. Turner Jr.

The Evergreen Garden club met at the home of Mrs. O. L. Turner Jr. at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Final plans were made for the all day meeting of the 7th Region of the Federated Garden Clubs of Illinois which is to be held at the Presbyterian church here on March 28. The two Harrisburg Garden clubs are to be joint hostesses and a large attendance is expected. Mrs. E. M. Travelstead, president, appointed committees to complete the favors, prepare programs and decorate the luncheon tables.

It was voted to visit Spring Mill State Park at Mitchell, Ind., and Nashville, Ind., on the annual tour which will be May 14 and 15.

Mrs. H. V. McDaniel, program chairman introduced Mrs. J. W. Towle who gave an interesting discussion about "Every Day Flower Arranging." Mrs. Towle emphasized the point flower arrangements should be suitable for a person's own home. Careful selection of containers, combination of colors and accessories will assure a pleasant arrangement. It was especially interesting to notice how many lovely arrangements can be made from commonplace weeds and greenery that are to be found in almost every yard or along any roadside. Mrs. Towle closed her topic with the thought that, "The Whole Wide World is a Garden" if we just take the time to look.

The hostesses, Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Travelstead, served delicious chicken salad and cheese salad sandwiches on tiny homemade rolls, cookies and Cokes.

The door prize was won by Mrs. J. B. Clark.

April 9 the club will meet with Mrs. Everett Stricklin.

Ingram Hill W. M. U. Holds March Meeting

The W. M. U. of the Ingram Hill Baptist church was held in the home of Mrs. Willie Cummins. Mrs. Robert Blackman, prayer chairman, presided and the program stressed the subject of home missions. The noon meal was a potluck and attending were Mrs. Stella Sisk, Mrs. Erwin Webb, Mrs. John Stinson, Mrs. Victor Hall, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Cora Smith and specially invited guests, Mrs. T. G. Moyer, Mrs. John Bishop, Mrs. Harold Empson and Miss Dorothy Blackman.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my grandson, Robert McReynolds, who passed away on March 12, fourteen years ago, at the age of 21. Memories are treasures that no one can steal. Death is a heartache nothing can heal. Some may forget you now that you are gone. But we shall remember, no matter how long. The call was short and the shock severe. To part with one we love so well. LEGISLATIVE REPORT

59th DISTRICT
By Representative
GORDON E. KERR

INVESTIGATION OF POWER RATES

A commission will be appointed by Speaker Wood to investigate the power rates in the southern part of the State. For a number of years the people of this part of the State have had a feeling that they are paying a much higher rate than elsewhere. This investigation is no reflection on the Power company or the Commerce Commission. In fact the co-operation of the company and the Commerce Commission made it possible for Metropolis to get a multi-million dollar industry. I supported this Commission because I feel the people are entitled to know the answer. It is impossible to compare the rates of the government backed T.V.A. with any private owned utilities. The investigation may show that because of the thinly populated areas of southern Illinois the rates must be higher to allow the company a reasonable profit, permitted by the Commerce Commission. In any event the investigation will show whether the present rate is fair or not.

STATE BOND PROPOSAL

One of the major bills of this session has been introduced in the Senate. This is one of the Governor's proposals to make more money available for schools and more buildings for the welfare institutions without increasing State taxes. This bill is a proposal for a $238,000,000 bond issue. This money would come from bonds payable in 25 years, to be retired from general revenue sources. If the General Assembly approves the proposal it will be submitted to the voters at an election next year.

TRADING STAMP PROPOSALS

One bill will require every person issuing trading stamps to register with the Department of revenue and pay a fee of $50 per year. They also would have to post a bond of $1,000 conditioned on redeeming the stamps. Another bill would put on a county license of $100 per year and post a bond of $10,000. These bills are aimed for the curtailment of trading stamps.

AMENDMENT TO DRIVERS LICENSE LAW

A bill has been introduced by a group of legislators designed to reduce the reckless driving of teenagers. Under this bill any person under the age of 21 can have their driving license suspended or revoked upon the conviction of reckless driving. The Secretary of State will suspend the license until the person convicted attains the age of 21.

BALLOT CHANGES

Because of light voting in most

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Thursday, March 14, 1957

primaries several bills have been introduced that the sponsors think will encourage people to vote more. One would remove the circle at the top forcing a voter to mark each candidate. Another would permit a voter to call for his party ballot or if they preferred they could call for a combined ballot. Another would put all parties on one ballot and a voter would not have to identify with any party.

GAS TAX INCREASE

There is talk about a 1 cent increase in the gas tax to help out the transportation problem in Chicago. This I certainly will oppose. In my opinion, not one cent of gas tax money should ever be diverted from the highway department, and that all gas tax money be spent only on roads. This proposal is just one of the dangers we pointed out in our fight against re-apportionment. We can look for more such proposals from Chicago.

Welfare Department have been introduced. With the cost of welfare in the State soaring, steps are being taken to make relief harder to get. Consolidation of Welfare Departments in Chicago and Cook county are recommended, where about 80 per cent of the welfare money is spent.

The State of Illinois has a long range program to help make the southern part a tourist attraction by building lakes, parks and improving the recreational areas we now have. However some of these plans can be dropped if the property owners ask an unreasonable price for any land the State may need. The co-operation of every person is needed if we are to progress in this field.

A false alarm resulted in panic that cost 72 lives in a fire in a hall at Calumet, Mich., on Christmas Day of 1913.

THE STORY: Chad Morgan, one of the partners who built the town of Pawnee City, stops a gang of Wild-shooting cowboys single handed. Chad did so to protect Helen Jagger, sister of Joe Jagger, who was Morgan's partner.

XV

Their horses went fast, but there was no more Yip-Yip-Yaying. And no more shooting.

"Chad!" Helen Jagger's poignant cry brought Morgan back to her. He turned, looked at her.

"Get off the street, Helen," he said tonelessly.

She looked at him, her eyes wide in shock. Then she turned and walked back toward the bank.

Cass Simcoe stood in front of the St. Louis Store, from where she had watched the entire episode between Chad Morgan and the Texas men. Her mouth was slightly open, her eyes were shining.

"That's a pretty good man," she said, "for a Yank!"

Faces began to appear in broken windows along the street. A door or two opened and a merchant ventured out tentatively.

Morgan, going back to the Longhorn Saloon, saw Tom Alder standing in front of it, leaning carelessly against one of the supports of the overhanging roof.

"Guess you don't figure on being an old man," Alder remarked casually.

Morgan gave him a sharp look and went past him. In the doorway of the saloon he encountered Joe Jagger about to come out.

"That was a grandstand play!" Jagger exclaimed.

Morgan stopped and looked squarely at his partner. "You think I did that for fun?"

The little man caught at his arm. "Wait—I'm Charles Fesler, the publisher of The Pawnee City Lance. Our first edition's coming out tomorrow and I'd like to use this for my lead story. I didn't see all of it. I'd like to know just what happened."

Morgan indicated Jagger. "Mr. Jagger can tell you," he said, and walked off. Both Fesler and Jagger looked after him in some surprise.

"Reaction," said the newspaperman. "He bluffed down those Texas men and I guess it's just hit him the big chance he took."

Chad Morgan's room in the hotel was nine by 12 feet in size and furnished with a cot, a washstand on which was a pitcher and a bowl and a straight-backed chair. Nails in the wall held Morgan's clothing.

Morgan lay on the bed, the fingers of his hands interlaced under his head. He stared sightlessly at the ceiling and did not hear the steps coming along the hall.

Knuckles rapped on the door. Morgan came back to the present. "It's open."

Jagger pushed open the door and came in. "Been looking for you."

"Sit down." Jagger picked up the straight-backed chair and turned it around. Straddling it, he sat down, bracing his chin on the high back of the chair.

Morgan sat up, swinging his feet to the floor. He looked inquiringly at Jagger.

Jagger said, "I still say it was a fool play. That white-headed cowboy, he's killed two men. If you hadn't gotten the drop on him, he'd have killed you!"

"Good thing he didn't."

Jagger got to his feet and kicked the chair aside, breaking a rung. "What's eating you?" He grimaced. "Helen?"

"You're Helen's brother, Joe," said Morgan, "but let's keep her out of this."

"Can't," said Helen Jagger from the open doorway.

She came into the room, closing the door and standing with her back against it. "You probably saved my life," she said. "I shouldn't have come out on the street, but I—I saw you and Joe in the Longhorn and I wanted to get over to you. I—I lost my nerve when they charged down on me." She smiled wanly. "Thanks, Chad."

"It's not as simple as that," said Jagger testily. "Seems we got a newspaper starting up. Nosy little beggar wants to make something of this business." He grunted. "I told him a thing or two and when he thinks it over he'll know which side his bread's buttered."

"What'd you tell him?" Morgan asked carelessly.

"I reminded him of who owned this town—"

"Joe," Helen Jagger said suddenly, "I'd like to talk to Chad alone a little while. We never seem to get a chance. Do you mind?"

"Of course not. But . . ." Jagger glowered at his sister, then jerked open the door. He left the door open and Helen closed it.

She seated herself on the edge of his bed. "I'm tired." "You're working too hard." "I didn't mind it as long as it was just work. But"—she looked up at him—"it's you and Joe. You're snapping at each other lately."

He sat down beside her, but did not touch her. "When Joe suggested this scheme to me down in Texas, he said he wanted to make a million dollars in a hurry."

"Aren't you interested in making a million?"

"I'd be a fool to say I wasn't. Only—I'm not in quite as much of a hurry as Joe is." He paused.

It was her turn to be quiet a moment, then she said, very low, "I want money, Chad. I want a lot of money. But I want more than that!"

"You want what money can buy . . . power."

To Celebrate Birthday

While Visiting Parents

From Vanderbilt U.

Michael Hutton Bacon will arrive tomorrow from Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., where he is a pre-medical student. He will be home in time to celebrate his 19th birthday, Friday, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bacon of 3 West South street.

This vacation, marking the end of the second term of his college year, extends his recent travel experience. He has just completed a tour of Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky as a member of the Vanderbilt Men's Glee club. He has been initiated into the Pershing Rifles and this three or four day vacation will give his friends and family the opportunity of congratulating him for his earned distinctions.

Michael was graduated from Culver Military Academy last June and entered Vanderbilt for the fall term.

Measure to Create Downstate Exposition Authority Wins Committee Approval

SPRINGFIELD — A measure designed to authorize creation of industrial fair and exposition authorities in downstate counties awaited legislative action today after winning committee approval.

The House Executive Committee approved the bill Wednesday, after a stormy session in which a proposal was defeated to send it to a subcommittee for further study, or in effect kill it. The move was made by House Majority Leader John Lewis, Marshall.

The Executive Committee also recommended passage of a series of administration bills which would set up a new department of financial institutions to take over some of the duties of the auditor's office.

The House Motor Vehicles Committee postponed action on a bill for county distribution of auto license plates to permit proponents and opponents to testify. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter has vigorously opposed the measure.

Rep. Allen T. Lucas (D-Sangamon), sponsor of the exposition authority measure, defended it vigorously against charges that it would "retard" the Chicago exposition hall project, approved by the Legislature in 1955.

Both the proposed downstate authorities and the Chicago project would be financed by the State Fair and Exposition Fund, which is derived from a tax on horse race betting.

Lucas, however, argued that the bill would revive rivalry between Chicago and downstate over allocations of funds from the fair and exposition money. Chicago would also attempt to dip into the State Agricultural Premium Fund, which is derived from downstate county fair sales.

Lucas told the committee only two or three downstate counties would be interested in creating an exposition authority under the bill, principally for the construction of exposition halls or auditoriums.

Meanwhile, in the House Democrats introduced a bill which would require all state officials to make available lists of their employees.

Egypt Acts to Relieve New Mid-East Tension; to Assist UN

By United Press
Middle Eastern tensions dramatically eased today.

Egypt, in a sudden turnaround from earlier hostility, announced it would give "full cooperation" to United Nations Emergency Forces in the Gaza Strip.

In Jerusalem, in the United Nations, in Washington and other interested capitals, Israel continued to press its diplomatic campaign against Egyptian re-entry to the explosive strip.

But an authoritative Israeli source in Jerusalem made these points in a summation for United Press correspondent Elias Simon: —Israel does not plan anything resembling military involvement in Gaza now.

—Premier David Ben-Gurion's government is not interested in possession of the Gaza Strip with the attendant problem of feeding its 300,000 residents.

—Israel will not bother with legal interpretations of big-power "promises" if its day-to-day life is not interfered with.

The apparently calmer Israeli view of the Gaza situation, however, did not include any retreat from the Israeli position that U. N. Emergency Forces must remain in the strip and that Egypt must never again be allowed to use the strip as a springboard for Fedayeen raids against Israel.

The Israeli source told Simon that if the UNEF leaves Gaza or its control becomes ineffective, Israel will step in even before Egypt has managed to take over.

In Cairo, the Egyptian government newspaper Al-Ghumbouria said Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif, newly appointed governor, may go to Gaza today.

Announcement of Egypt's new attitude toward the U. N. forces came from government spokesmen Col. Abdel Kader Hatem. He said: "Full cooperation marks relations between Egyptian authorities and UNEF and Egypt does what she can to carry out duties placed upon her shoulders."

Dr. Paul L. McKay
Named President
Millikin University
DECATUR, Ill. — Dr. Paul L. McKay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Akron, Ohio, has been named president of Millikin University.

McKay will take over his new duties June 1.

McKay's appointment was announced Wednesday by Acting University President C. L. Miller, who succeeded Dr. J. Walter Malone after his retirement in January, 1956.

McKay, 39, is the youngest of the eight presidents in Millikin history.

He was born in Laeche, Effingham County, and attended the First Presbyterian Church of Akron, Ohio, where he was ordained as a Methodist minister in 1944, but transferred to the Presbyterian Church in 1946.

The President thought first of Arizona, then southern Florida, as possible rest spots before going to the Bermuda conference. But early this week he decided an ocean voyage would offer a better opportunity for rest and relaxation.

The Navy swung into action and came up with the Canberra, the nation's newest guided missile cruiser, and two escorting destroyers — the William M. Wood and the Barton. A group of 24 reporters, radio-TV men and photographers will travel aboard the smaller vessels. A small presidential staff will be aboard the cruiser.

TRIPOLI, Libya — A plane carrying Vice President Richard M. Nixon from Khartoum to Tripoli was forced to return to Khartoum today when trouble developed in one of the engines.

A radio message said the plane returned to Khartoum 50 minutes after takeoff because of "partial failure" of the No. 2 engine.

An announcement said Nixon's brief visit to Tripoli would be cancelled and that he would fly direct to Tripoli after engine repairs are made or a new one is flown in for him.

It was the second time Nixon's plane had developed engine trouble on his tour of Africa. A new engine was flown to Monrovia, Liberia, from Prestwick, Scotland, when trouble developed.

Plans call for Nixon to fly to Tunis Saturday for a weekend audience with Pope Pius XII. On Monday he flies to Tunisia and then home, arriving in Washington a week from today.

A jet-propelled, steam-operated boat was developed as far back as the 18th century. George Washington watched a test model run in 1784.

36 Killed in Student Attack on Cuban Palace; American is Dead

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban army said today the attempted assassination of President Fulgencio Batista ended in bloodshed. He said about 40 revolutionaries were involved in the attack. The army placed the figure at 30. This correspondent counted between 25 and 30.

Constitutional guarantees have been in suspension since Feb. 15, but no martial law or formal curfew was imposed on Havana. Police asked civilians to stay off the streets Wednesday night and they did.

Identification of the first few rebels slain indicated the group comprised mostly university students loyal to Dr. Carlos Prío Socarrás, former president ousted by Batista in 1952 and now living in exile in Miami, Fla.

The American killed was Peter Korenda, 38, of Clifton, N. J., a clerk at the Hayden Chemical Works in Garfield, N. J. He was hit in the neck by a stray bullet while watching the fighting from the doorway at the Hotel Regia a block from the palace.

Korenda was here on a two-week vacation with Edward Butts, of Garfield, N. J. Butts was wounded slightly.

Is not interfered with.

First Baptist W. M. S. Observes Day of Prayer

The W. M. S. of the First Baptist church of Raleigh met Friday at the church for a Royal Service and Day of Prayer. A potluck dinner was served at noon in the lower rooms of the church to nine attending members. Mrs. Stella Smith presided at the meeting and an offering was taken for home missions. Others attending were Annie Armstrong, Winnie Newcomb, Opal Goodson, Myra Weir, Velma Wiseman, Emma Hill, Morris Taylor, Essie Musgraves and Gloria Greenfield. Rev. Howard Todd Taylor and Rev. Mihfield were guests at the noon meal.

The Philathea Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met at the church Thursday at 7 p. m. for a class social and business meeting. The class president, Winnie Neal, presided. The meeting opened with the song, "Trust, Try and Prove Me," followed by a prayer by Florence Parks. Ruth Bradshaw read the sixth chapter of Matthew scripture. The class voted to sponsor a cancer drive after which the meeting closed with a prayer given by Iva Dillbeck. Recreation under the direction of Versa Sisney included games and the prizes were won by Ruth Bradshaw and Katherine Mathis.

Mrs. Dessie McElhaney served as hostess for the evening and delicious refreshments were enjoyed by Ruth Bradshaw, Lena Whitlock, Marie Hale, Versa Sisney, Opal and Darlene Goodson, Beulah Miller, Iva Dillbeck, Nell Johnson, Blanche Spurlock, Myrtle Hale, Florence Parks, Mary Moore, Hal Owens, Beulah Bishop, Katherine Mathis and Winnie Neal.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. Maud Bradshaw were Mr. and Mrs. James Williams and Frederick Arnt.

Opal Goodson expresses the sympathy of the community to the friends and family of Mrs. Carrie Jones for their recent bereavement.

Early Medicine Chest Gift to State Historical Society

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A gift of the early nineteenth century medicine chest of Illinois' first Secretary of State to the Illinois State Historical Library was announced today by Illinois State Historian Clyde C. Walton.

It was presented to the Historical Library by Elias K. Kane, Jr., of Pittsfield, Mass., whose great grandfather, Elias Kent Kane, was also an Illinois Territory judge, a member of the state's first constitutional convention, and its fourth United States senator.

The mahogany-veneer chest is an intricate example of the cabinet-maker's art. When closed it appears to be a solid box, 12 inches wide, 10 inches deep and 14 1/2 inches high. There is a full-size drawer, with a recessed pull, at the bottom and on the top is a silver plate engraved with "Elias Kane, Kaskaskias, Illinois." When this top is lifted the two front quarters of the chest swing back on small brass hinges to make a cabinet two-feet wide. At the top are compartments for 22 medicine bottles and below these are six small drawers with ivory pulls. All of the drawers are made of cedar and the smallest ones which are 4 by 5 inches are partitioned into quarters. The three larger drawers are velvet lined.

In estimating the age of the chest State Historian Walton said that it was probably purchased in the east sometime after 1825 when Kane took his seat in the Senate. At that time the new senator was 30 years old. He served one full term and was re-elected by the Illinois General Assembly but did not live to complete his second term. His health had been poor—hence the need for the large medicine chest—and he died in Washington on Dec. 12, 1835, following a winter trip from Kaskaskia.

Picking NCAA, NIT Winners

IN THE

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—From Dallas to Corvallis the round ball bouncers are in a tournament tizzy this week end with frenzied action in both the NCAA and NIT and in this corner the results shape up this way:

Game of the Week

SMU over Kansas: You've got to have rocks in your head to pick against the fabled Wilt-the-Stilt Chamberlain. But the Mustangs are playing in their own back yard in this Friday night special of the NCAA regional and Jim Krebs could spell the difference.

The remainder of the NCAA schedule shapes up this way:

Friday Night

North Carolina over Canisius: Tar Heeled and feathered.
Syracuse over Lafayette: Cohen, Cohen, gone.

Kentucky over Pittsburgh: Rupp and ready.

Notre Dame over Michigan State: Redeeming those battered football fortunes.

St. Louis over Oklahoma City: Too little, too late.

San Francisco over Idaho State: Without Russell.

California over Brigham Young: On Newell's coaching.

Saturday Night

North Carolina over Syracuse: This is the game of the night as the Yankee Tar Heels, with a starting five from the New York metropolitan area, shoot for their 30th straight victory in an undefeated season. Every game gets tougher as they try to protect that winning streak but they have the guns to peel the Orange.

Notre Dame over Kentucky: This is a tough one with the winner earning the unenviable right to meet North Carolina in the March 22 semi-finals at Kansas City. Consolation: It's a nice trip.

Southern Methodist over St. Louis: The Billikins are steady but if SMU gets past Kansas the impetus should carry them on to Kansas City.

California over San Francisco: The only state being absolutely dead certain to have a team at Kitty's home town.

The NIT

Saturday Night

Utah over Memphis State: The Utes have the class to win a contest you'll be able to witness on video.

Xavier of Cincinnati over Seton Hall: This is the "sleeper" of the tournament and could pick up all the marbles even against idle top-seeded Seattle and Bradley.

Dayton over St. Peters: Perennial runnerup which is a cinch to go just about that far.

Cincinnati over St. Bonaventure: Even without the pitching. Any questions?

SIU's Bryson Named to Conference First Team, Warren Talley to Second

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Two Southern Illinois University cagers have been named on the Interstate All-Conference basketball teams announced this week.

Seymour Bryson, SIU 6-4 sophomore from Quincy, was named first-team forward, while Warren Talley, 6-3 junior from Pinckneyville, was picked as a second team forward.

Another SIU player, Larry Whitlock, 6-5 junior from Mt. Vernon, received honorable mention.

Bryson, the only sophomore named to the first team, led SIU in conference scoring and rebounding, averaging 16.9 points-per game and 13.8 rebounds for the 12 loop games. He also led Southern in free throws, scoring 83 in 117 attempts.

Complete selections as made by the IAC athletic publicity directors upon recommendations of players and coaches were:

FIRST TEAM

Forwards: Bryson, SIU; John Olson (6-4), Northern Illinois.

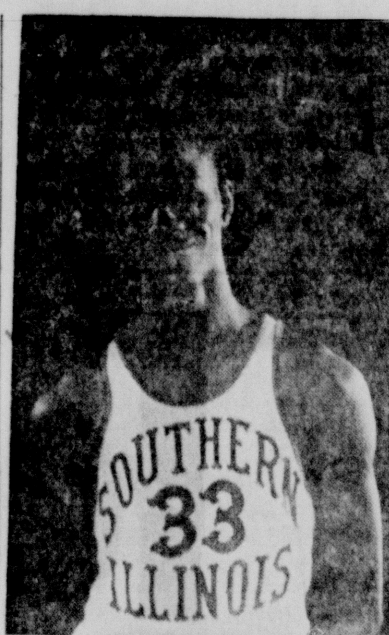

Center: Chuck Schramm (6-6), Western Illinois.

Guards: John Millholland (6-0), Eastern Illinois; and Chuck Behrens (6-2), Western Illinois.

Special Mention: Fred Marberry (6-1), Illinois Normal.

SECOND TEAM

Forwards: Ralph Bacote (6-4), Northern Illinois, and Talley, SIU.

Seymour Bryson

Center: Tony Cadle (6-8), Illinois Normal.
Guards: Stan Gooch (5-10), Central Michigan and Bill Stephens (6-2), Eastern Michigan.

HONORABLE MENTION
Don Ellis, Central Michigan; Lloyd Ludwig, Eastern Illinois; Dave Parks, Eastern Michigan; Gene Jonty, Illinois Normal; Larry Gentry, Northern Illinois; Whitlock, SIU; Grady McCollum, and Don Talbot, Western Illinois.

Tiny Forreston Stuns Rockford West, Pinckneyville Whips Tamms, 81-49

Charleston
Upsets Effingham
St. Anthony, 68-60

By United Press

Tiny Forreston, paced by DeVries brothers, stunned defending state champion Rockford West, and Charleston upset Effingham St. Anthony Wednesday night in the first round of prep basketball sectional tournament play.

Aurora West turned in another surprise in jolting Cicero Morton, but such favorites as Pinckneyville, Peoria Central and West Frankfort coasted to easy triumphs.

Other winners in the 14 downstate sectional games Wednesday were LaSalle - Peru, Barrington, Centralia, Pontiac, Maroa, Quincy Notre Dame, Springfield and Champaign.

Both first round sectional games at Moline will be played tonight, and the other 14 downstate centers will complete first round play this evening.

Forreston, a town of 1,050 persons, won its first sectional prep basketball game in history by upsetting the mighty Rockford West Warriors who were looking for their third straight state championship. Forreston led, 25-24, at halftime and, 39-38, at the end of the third quarter. Dick DeVries swished in 16 points and his brother, Roger, netted 15 to pace the Forreston attack, while Chad Hoffmann led the Warriors with 13 points. Forreston Friday will meet the winner of a Freeport Rock Falls game in the Sterling final.

Overcome Deficit

Charleston turned in a 68-60 conquest of Effingham St. Anthony, which had been beaten only once before all season, in the first round at Bridgeport. Charleston overcame a 25-24 halftime deficit and spurred to a 42-34 lead going into the final period. Three Charleston players shared scoring honors with 16 points apiece. They were Dave Dooley, Dave Schick and Jerry Powell. Jerry Taegenkamp led St. Anthony with 13 points.

Charleston will meet the winner of a Mattoon-Robinson match in the Bridgeport final Friday.

Aurora West set back Cicero Morton, 51-47, in a hard-fought battle on the Aurora West court.

John Schwenk sparked the winners with 15 points while Dennis Schafer turned in 14 points for the losers. Aurora West will meet the winner of a DeKalb-Elgin game Friday night.

Pinckneyville crushed Tamms, 81-49, in the first round at Herrin, despite a 29-point performance by Tamms' Charley Vaughn. John Daffron led Pinckneyville with 24 points. Herrin and East St. Louis will meet in the other first round game at Herrin tonight, with Herrin expected to win and play Pinckneyville in a clash of southern powers Friday.

Mt. Vernon-Brookport Tonight

West Frankfort, with superior height, rebounding an accuracy, romped to an easy 73-56 victory over Harrisburg. West Frankfort, with five men hitting in double figures, zoomed to a 33-28 halftime lead and never was headed.

Mount Vernon and Brookport will meet in the other West Frankfort first rounder tonight.

Peoria Central thumped little Colechester, 74-45, in the first round at Macomb, with Jim Polk pacing the winners with 21 points. Pekin will meet Farmington in the other first round game at Macomb tonight.

Springfield outclassed Hardin, 86-47, in the Springfield sectional as Paul Sangster hit 21 for the winners and Larry Churchman led the losers with 14. Springfield Lanphier will meet Lincoln in the other first round game tonight.

In other games, LaSalle-Peru edged Wyoming, 66-61, at Ottawa; Barrington clipped Leyden 68-64, at Arlington Heights; Centralia vanquished Hillsboro, 74-70, in overtime at Vandallia; Quincy Notre Dame bumped Beardstown, 65-54, at Jacksonville; Pontiac rallied in the third quarter to overcome Thornton TWP., 61-52, at Blue Island; Champaign clobbered Georgetown, 38-25, at Urbana, and Maroa tipped Taylorville, 57-54, at Decatur.

Games Tonight

In other first round games tonight Rock Island will meet Alwood and Galesburg will meet Fulton at Moline; Oak Park will meet Evanston at Arlington Heights; Chicago Heights Bloom will play Kankakee St. Patrick at

Title Games Tonight In Two Divisions of Church League Tourney

Church-sponsored basketball in Harrisburg will close a successful season tonight when the championships in two divisions will be determined.

Title games in the intermediate and senior divisions are scheduled for this evening.

The First Baptist church team won the junior division title Tuesday by beating the Presbyterians 63-34.

Today at 7 p. m. the First Baptist and McKinley Avenue Baptist teams will play for the intermediate title. At 8:30 the Presbyterians and Dorrisville Social Brethren teams meet for the championship of the senior division.

Trophies will be awarded the winning teams in each of the three age groups.

Games are played in the Harrisburg Junior high school gymnasium.

Drop First Game of Sectional; Mt. Vernon Plays Brookport Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs today had bowed out of varsity basketball competition for the year after dropping their first sectional contest last night to West Frankfort, 73 to 56, on the winners' floor.

Tomorrow night Frankfort will meet the winner of tonight's Mt. Vernon-Brookport tilt for the championship of the West Frankfort sectional. Games are at eight o'clock. The champ will face the winner of the Herrin sectional at 8 p. m. next Tuesday also in the West Frankfort gym, in the first round of the state meet.

Harrisburg last night made a great game of it for the first half and for five minutes of the third quarter, at which time the Bull Dogs were behind but two points. But the Red Birds raced on for eight points to two for the locals during those last three minutes of the frame and the game was in the bag for the Frankfort crew.

Poor Free Throw Percentage

In the final period, the Bull Dogs were outscored 22 to 13. They were behind 11 points, 63 to 52, with two minutes left in the game, when Frankfort surged again to score 10 points to four for Harrisburg to make the final count 73 to 56.

The Frankfort substitutes entered the game with a half minute left.

The Bull Dogs played a battling, courageous game all the way through without letdown and lost to a bigger, experienced outfit that was hitting better both from the field and the foul line. Harrisburg blew a number of shots made on the fast break.

Harrisburg connected on 22 out of 56 shots from the field for a percentage of 39.3 while Frankfort's 28 out of 65 gave the Red Birds 43.

From the free throw line Harrisburg had one of its poorer nights, connecting with but 12 out of 27 while Frankfort was making 17 out of 24.

Harrisburg led at the outset, but midway in the first quarter Frankfort rallied to go ahead 12-7. Harrisburg was undaunted and put on a display of fast basketball that gave the Bull Dogs a 16-13 lead at the end of the period.

Score 33-28 at Half

The locals kept within range of the Red Birds during the second quarter although they were out shot, 20 to 12, and at halftime the count was 33-28.

First two minutes of the third quarter saw Frankfort go out in front by nine points, 41-32, but the Bull Dogs put in nine points the next three minutes while Frankfort was scoring but two and the gap was narrowed to two at 43-41.

West Frankfort displayed a balanced scoring attack with the first five and the No. 1 substitute, Link, getting in for a number of points. Ron Avery had 16, Wayne Neibel had 15, Frances Florian and Richard Britton had 12 each and Vlado Zavich had 10.

For Harrisburg Ray Hassett, only junior among the seven Bull Dogs who played last night, had 22 points for scoring honors of the game, followed by Wayne Stone's 14 and Ben Fulkerson's 11.

Large Local Crowd

Nearly a thousand Bull Dog fans were on hand at the big West Frankfort gym to see the contest and to cheer the local team, which won the admiration of the community with its continued improvement as the season progressed.

Back on Feb. 9 the Bull Dogs had a mark of four wins and 15 losses, but starting with McLeansboro they ran up a streak of eight victories before losing last night, as Coach John Dotson developed the group into a basketball-playing quintet.

Of the ten boys suited for the tournament, Dotson will lose Ben Fulkerson, Bill Henshaw, Wayne Stone, Charles and Jim Cummins, John Zeigler and Dick Drue. Back will be Ray Hassett, Kinch Jones and Mickey Stone.

Devil's Kitchen Will Complete
Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge Project

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A depression-born federal project in southern Illinois seems destined for completion early in the 1960's. Now known as the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, it was a shell loading plant during World War II.

Under original plans, the 7,000-acre Crab Orchard Lake, completed in 1938, was to be supplemented by two feeder lakes — Little Grassy and Devil's Kitchen.

Little Grassy, which spreads over 1,000 acres, was finally finished in 1952. But the rugged Devil's Kitchen dam was abandoned shortly after Pearl Harbor while only half completed.

Now, some $4.3 million in federal funds has been ticketed to complete a picture that has been on the Corps of Engineers drawing boards for more than 15 years.

Some clearing and other preliminary work has already been done at Devil's Kitchen. The job of completing the dam proper will begin this spring. The dam, when finished, will impound water in an 800-acre lake that will be 90 feet deep.

Larry Sheffield, park ranger at the refuge, says bids are scheduled to be let next September for constructing 25 miles of hard-surfaced roads around Devil's Kitchen.

To Lease Cabin Sites

He expects the dam to be finished sometime during 1959. It will probably take another two years for the lake to fill.

The refuge area includes 44,000 acres in three counties—Williamson, Jackson and Union—but, most of the land is in Williamson County. It is administered by the Department of Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service under special act of Congress.

Use of the three lake areas is spelled out by the congressional act. The shores of Crab Orchard are for the public's exclusive use. The waterfront area around Little Grassy is given over for lease by organizations. Ten of them—including church, fraternal, service, educational and Boy and Girl Scout movements—claim all of the leases now.

But Congress has assured the private citizen, at least some of them, of a spot at Devil's Kitchen. Sheffield said that tentative plans call for leasing some 800 to 1,000 individual cabin sites—each of a half acre—around the lake. Another 20 to 25 four-acre sites are planned.

Woman's Club
Aids Easter
Seal Campaign

The Harrisburg Woman's club has just completed preparing the annual Easter Seal mailing for Saline county, according to Mrs. E. Bishop Hill, crippled child chairman of the local club.

Mrs. Hill reports that approximately 4300 letters will be mailed into Saline county on March 15 from the Carbondale office of the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc., but that individual returns will go into the Saline county treasurer who is George O. Davenport, Harrisburg National bank.

Mrs. Hill urges all who receive Easter Seals to send in their contributions as the Easter Seal Society does not make personal contact with potential donors.

Over 90% of the funds raised stay in Illinois for services to both crippled children and adults. One of the best known services of the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc. is its very popular summer camping program for crippled children.

Marion Policeman Loses 'Draw' with Television Marshal

MARION, Ill. (AP) — A Marion policeman told today how he lost out in a draw against a marshal on the western television show "Gunsmoke."

Patrolman Robert Jones said his family was engrossed in the show when he decided to add a realistic touch. He loaded his pistol with what he thought was a blank. As the marshal reached for his six-shooter, Jones fired his pistol at the floor.

But the blank turned out to be a tear gas shell. The family hurriedly evacuated the house.

Farmers Union Meeting at Eldorado Friday

A Farmers Union meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Eldorado Township high school, John Adams of Mountain township, temporary secretary and union insurance agent, announced today.

State Organizer J. Callahan of Springfield, Ill., will be present to explain policies and ideals to any farmer interested in the organization, he stated. County officers also will be elected at the meeting.

Mr. Adams pointed out that much interest is being shown by the farmers of Saline county in the Farmers Union organization. He stated that James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers union, has stated the concept of parity would be $28 for hogs, $2.99 for wheat and $2.18 for corn.
